Executive Summary

The Center for Business and Economic Research (Center) has committed to provide to the City of Fayetteville a quarterly socio-economic data update. During the third quarter, the following data points and trends were observed:

- The Fayetteville-Springdale-Rogers MSA witnessed a 0.3 percentage point increase in the unemployment rate from 3.5 percent in April 2008 to 3.8 percent in July 2008. However, unemployment was down from the prior year July rate of 4.4 percent. Unemployment in the Fayetteville-Springdale-Rogers MSA has remained relatively stable and low compared to the national unemployment rate. The national unemployment rate in July 2008 was 6.0 percent up from 4.8 percent in April 2008.
- The City of Fayetteville is considering a water and sewer impact fee increase, while the City of Bentonville is considering discontinuing its impact fees.
- The average square footage added per month for a single family home from January 2007 through August 2008 was 94,302 sq. ft. The average monthly value of building permits issued during this period was $6,878,153. The monthly number and value of building permits has been in decline since February 2007.
- The average value for a multifamily housing permit was $1,281,408 from January 2007 through August 2008. There were a total of 89 multifamily building permits issued during the same time period. The number and value of permits remained low during the third quarter time period.
- The average value for new commercial building permits issued was $1,858,993 during the time period January 2007 - August 2008. The average square footage of new commercial permits was 74,422 sq. ft. during the same time period. Both the number of permits and value have remained relatively stable, even as residential permits have declined.
- The sales taxes collected in the first seven months of 2008 were on average 8.87 percent higher than collections for the same months in 2007. A portion of the increased sales tax collections can be accounted for by recent state level changes to streamline sales tax distribution.

Introduction

The Center for Business and Economic Research (Center) has committed to provide to the City of Fayetteville a quarterly socio-economic data update. The report is divided into two sections: Demographic Data and Economic Data. The demographic data draw on a wide variety of local and national data and encompass gender breakdown, age breakdown, income information, educational attainment, and information about institutions of higher learning in the area. These data are released on an annual basis, and the most updated information available is included. The economic data section includes employment figures in the area, wage data, cost of development, tax data and housing data. These data are available on a monthly basis, so trend changes can be identified more quickly.

Demographic Information

Source: U.S. Census Bureau, American Community Survey, 2006.

The chart above shows that males comprised 52 percent of the population of the city of Fayetteville according to 2006 census data estimates. In 2006, slightly more than 50 percent of the national population was female.

Industrial	$47,848	100	87	119	177	309

The table above shows the Cost of Development Index for the cities of Springdale, Rogers and Bentonville and the state of Arkansas with respect to Fayetteville. The development index was recalculated on September 12, 2008 by compiling fees levied on different building types for a variety of services such as water, sewage, public safety, roads, parks, libraries, etc. The City of Fayetteville is indexed at 100, allowing a percentage comparison for the cost of development in neighboring cities. For example, the residential cost of development in the City of Springdale is 36 percent of the cost in Fayetteville.

During the second quarter of 2008, the City of Rogers enacted a new Tree Ordinance which requires a grading permit fee of $1000 if more than 6 trees are cut during the course of a year. The City of Springdale approved sign regulations limiting the height of signs along the Tyson Parkway, while the City of Bentonville’s Planning Commission imposed new commercial design standards. The City of Centerton increased water and sewer rates while the City of Fayetteville is about to consider an increase in the water and sewer impact fees. The City of Bentonville is beginning to consider removal of impact fees.

Source: City of Fayetteville

The chart above represents the permits issued for new single family housing units in Fayetteville. The number and value of new permits issued declined throughout 2007. The average square footage added per month for a single family home from January 2007 through August 2008 was 94,302 sq. ft. The average monthly value of permits issued during this period was $6,878,153.

Source: City of Fayetteville

The average value for a multifamily housing permit was $1,281,408 from January 2007 through August 2008. There were a total of 89 multifamily permits issued during the same time period. No multifamily permits were issued in January and July 2007, and January, April, May and August 2008.

Source: City of Fayetteville

The average value for new commercial permits issued was $1,858,993 during the time period January 2007 - August 2008. The average square footage of new commercial permits was 74,422 sq. ft. during the same time period. There have been a total of 43 permits issued thus far in 2008.

Source: City of Fayetteville

In the first seven months of 2008, the City of Fayetteville collected $16,184,366 in sales taxes. During 2007, the City of Fayetteville collected $33,537,922 in sales taxes and $1,252,489 in property taxes. The sales taxes collected in the first seven months of 2008 were on average 8.87 percent higher than collections for the same months in 2007. A portion of the increased sales tax collections may be accounted for recent changes to streamline sales tax distribution. The sales tax changed from 1.75 percent in 2006 to 2 percent in 2007, accounting for the net increase in tax collections in 2007. The city collected $25,445,756 in sales tax and $1,109,151 in property tax during 2006.

<sup>i</sup> Median: (From OED) A quantity, term, or value that is the midpoint of a set of values, such that the variable has an equal probability of falling above or below it; the middle term of a discrete series arranged in order of magnitude (or, if there is no middle term, the mean of the middle two terms).

<sup>ii</sup> Family: (From Census Bureau) A family is a group of two people or more (one of whom is the householder) related by birth, marriage, or adoption and residing together; all such people (including related subfamily members) are considered as members of one family.

<sup>iii</sup> Non-family Household: (From Census Bureau) A nonfamily household consists of a householder living alone (a one-person household) or where the householder shares the home exclusively with people to whom he/she is not related.
